INTERNATIONALES NATURFILMFESTIVAL ECKERNFÖRDE

Eulogy – Best Story 2009

It is a well known fact that in many ways we still treat our earth as if we had just borrowed it from our children and are all the more relieved when international organisations take over and attempt to protect our environment, using other means at their disposal.

However, you can say what you like on paper and crimes to our environment are manifold.

One such case is shown in this film, which has won this award.

This is a violation, which, by agreement, should not actually have taken place, yet has world wide consequences. It shows not only unscrupulous criminal profiteers at work, but also how resolute and courageous state investigators and protectors of the environment are hard on their heels, at considerable risks to themselves.

The directors have created a highly explosive, entertaining crime thriller out of a real life occurrence. It is a truthful, brave and committed.

The treatment of this environmental crime is successful and at the same time innovative. We hope for more, as long as this is necessary.

Discovering important themes, researching them precisely and making an original and concise film out of this has been the work of the script writers and film production team for years.

The Green Screen Prize 2009 for the best story goes to Heinz Greuling for “Eco-Crimes – Ozone Killers”.
